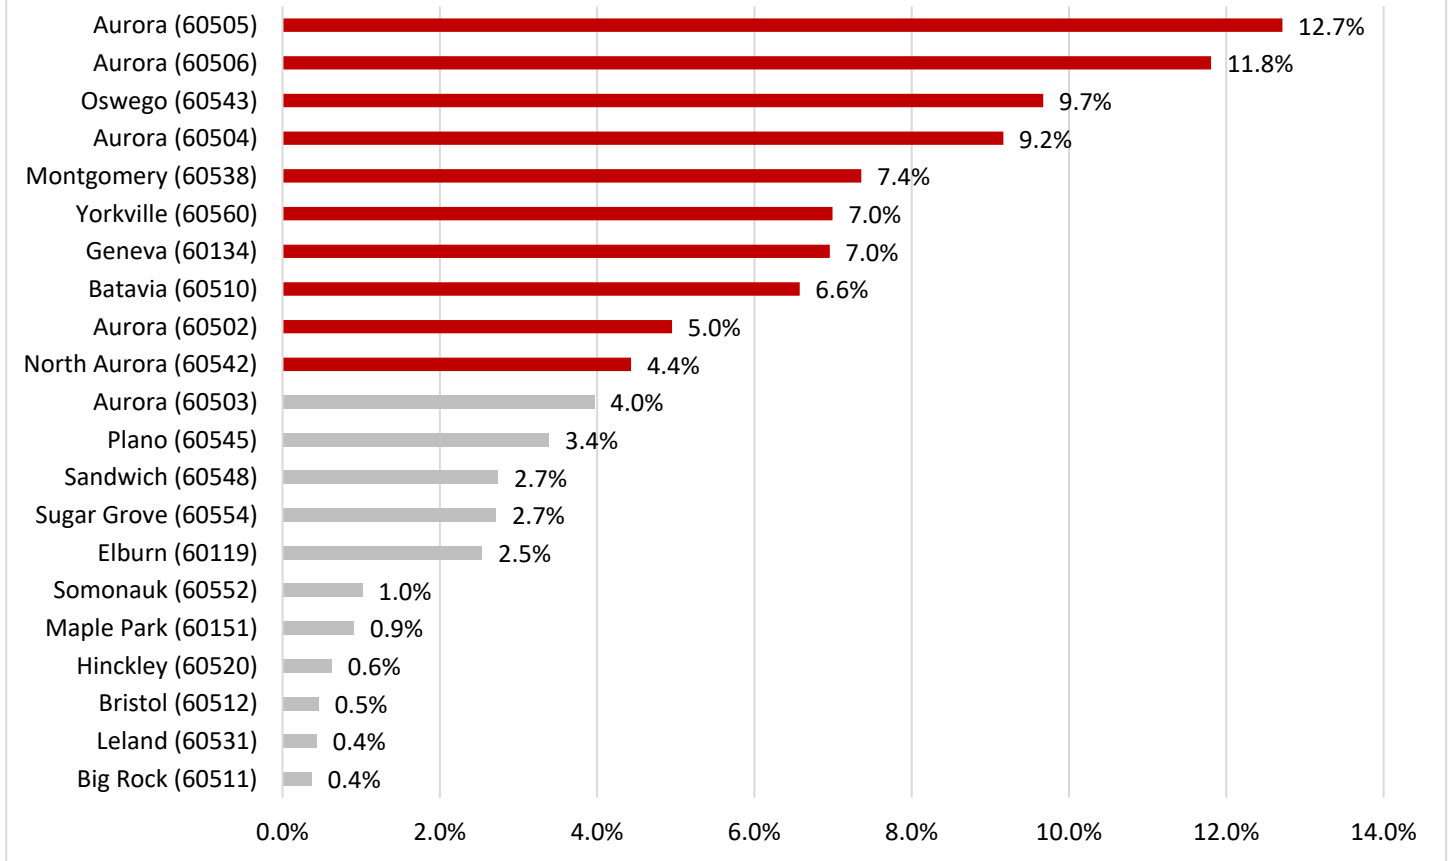

Figure 1: Shows ZIP Code population as a proportion of the entire Waubonsee district. The 2025 district population estimate was 431,940 people. The 10 most populated communities are shown in red and represent 80.6% of the district total. Yorkville (60560) replaces Geneva (60134) as the 6th highest populated community in the 2025 report.

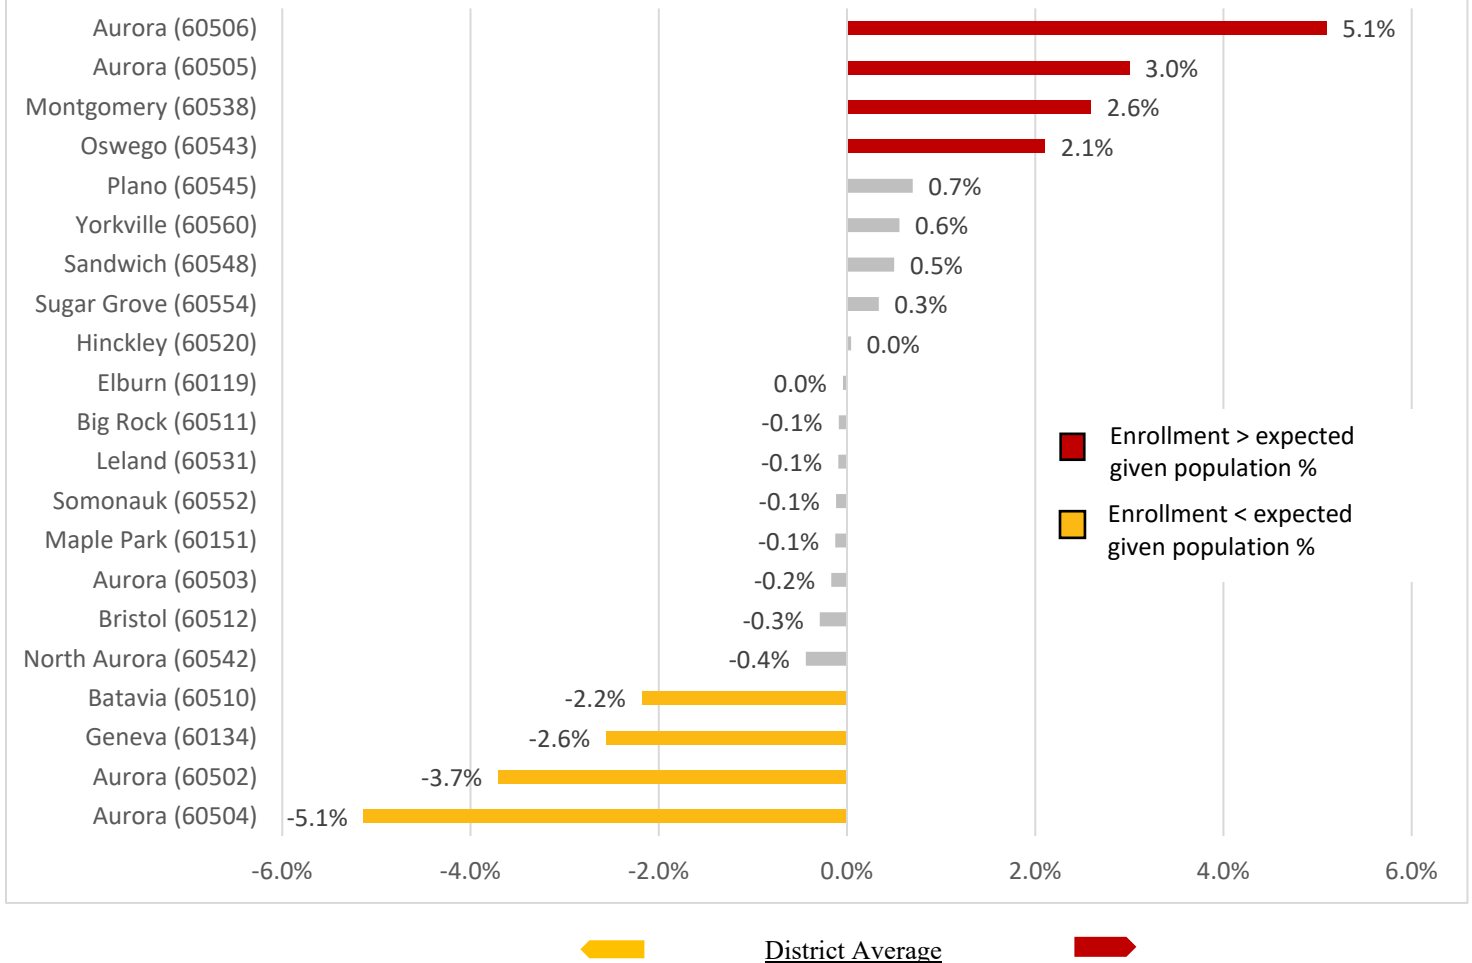

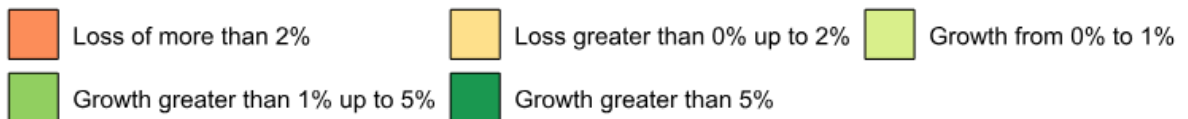

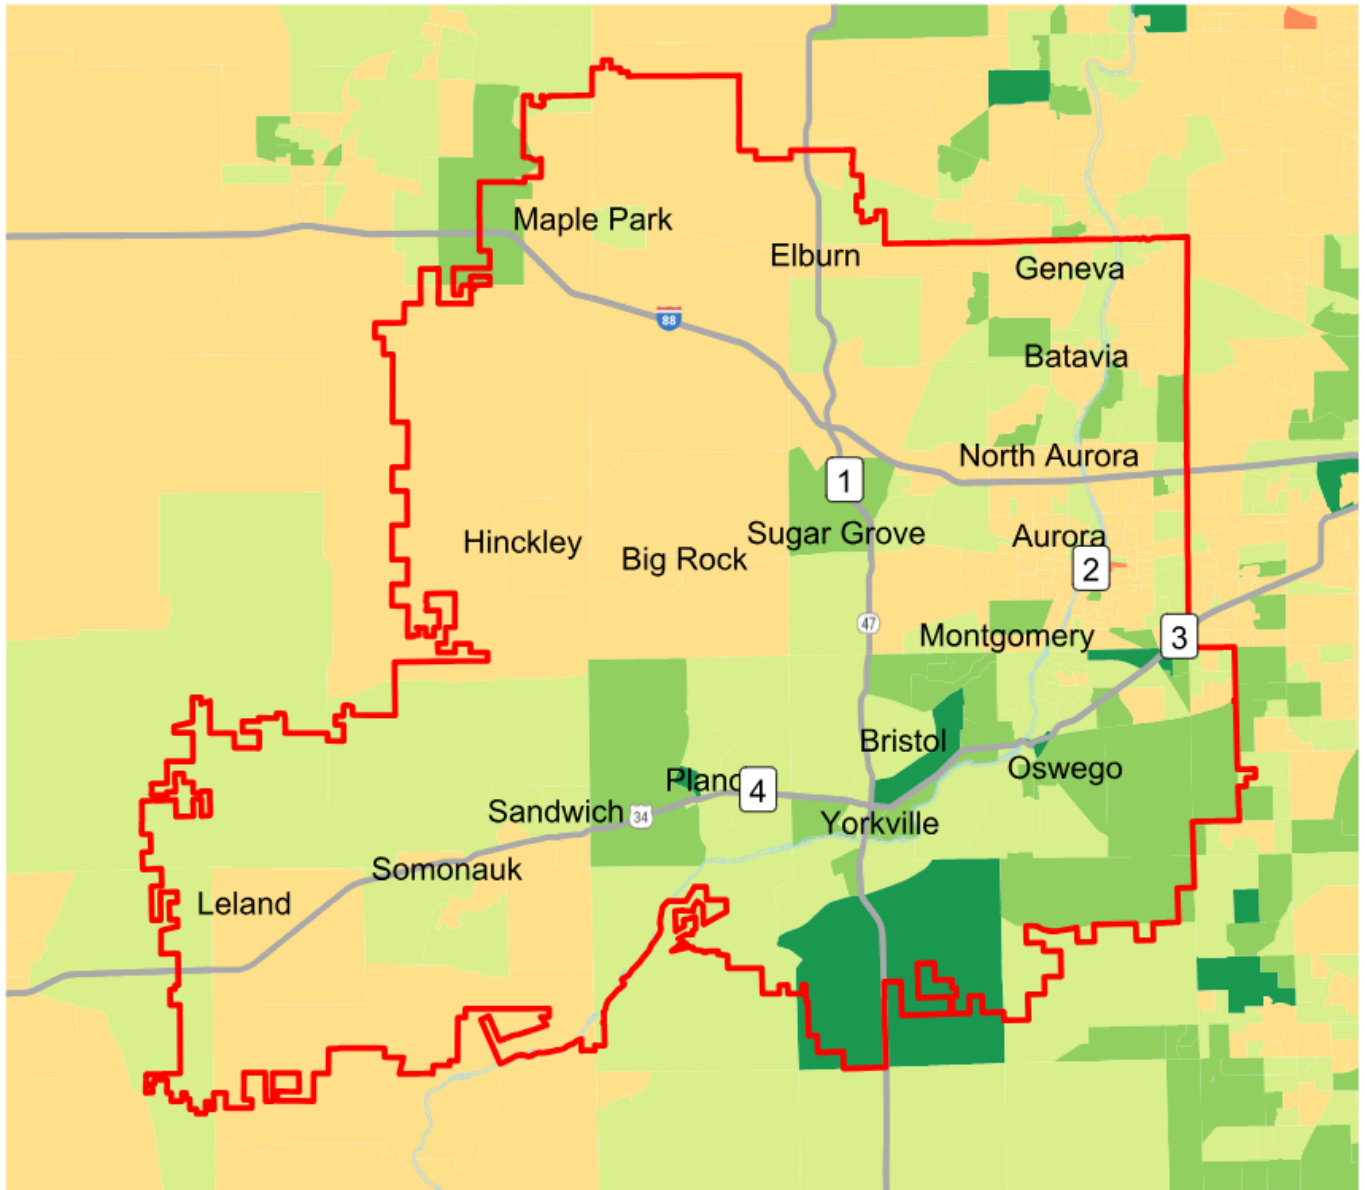

Figure 3: In theory, the percentage of credit student enrollment from a ZIP Code should approximate the percentage of the Waubensee population that it makes up – that is, the expected difference between population and credit enrollment percentage should be small.

Aurora 60504 and 60502, Geneva and Batavia show significantly lower than expected Fall 2024 credit student enrollment given their 2025 estimated population, while Aurora 60506 and 60505, Montgomery and Oswego show significantly higher than expected credit student enrollment.

Figure 4: Illustrates the percentage of households in a particular ZIP Code as a percentage of all Waubensee district households – estimated to be 151,103 households in 2025. The 10 most populated communities by household are highlighted in red and represent 80.1% of the district

The Waubensee district has shown an estimated 5-year household growth rate between 2020 and 2025 of 2.5% (0.5% annual household growth rate).

Communities* with greatest and lowest 5-year household growth rate:

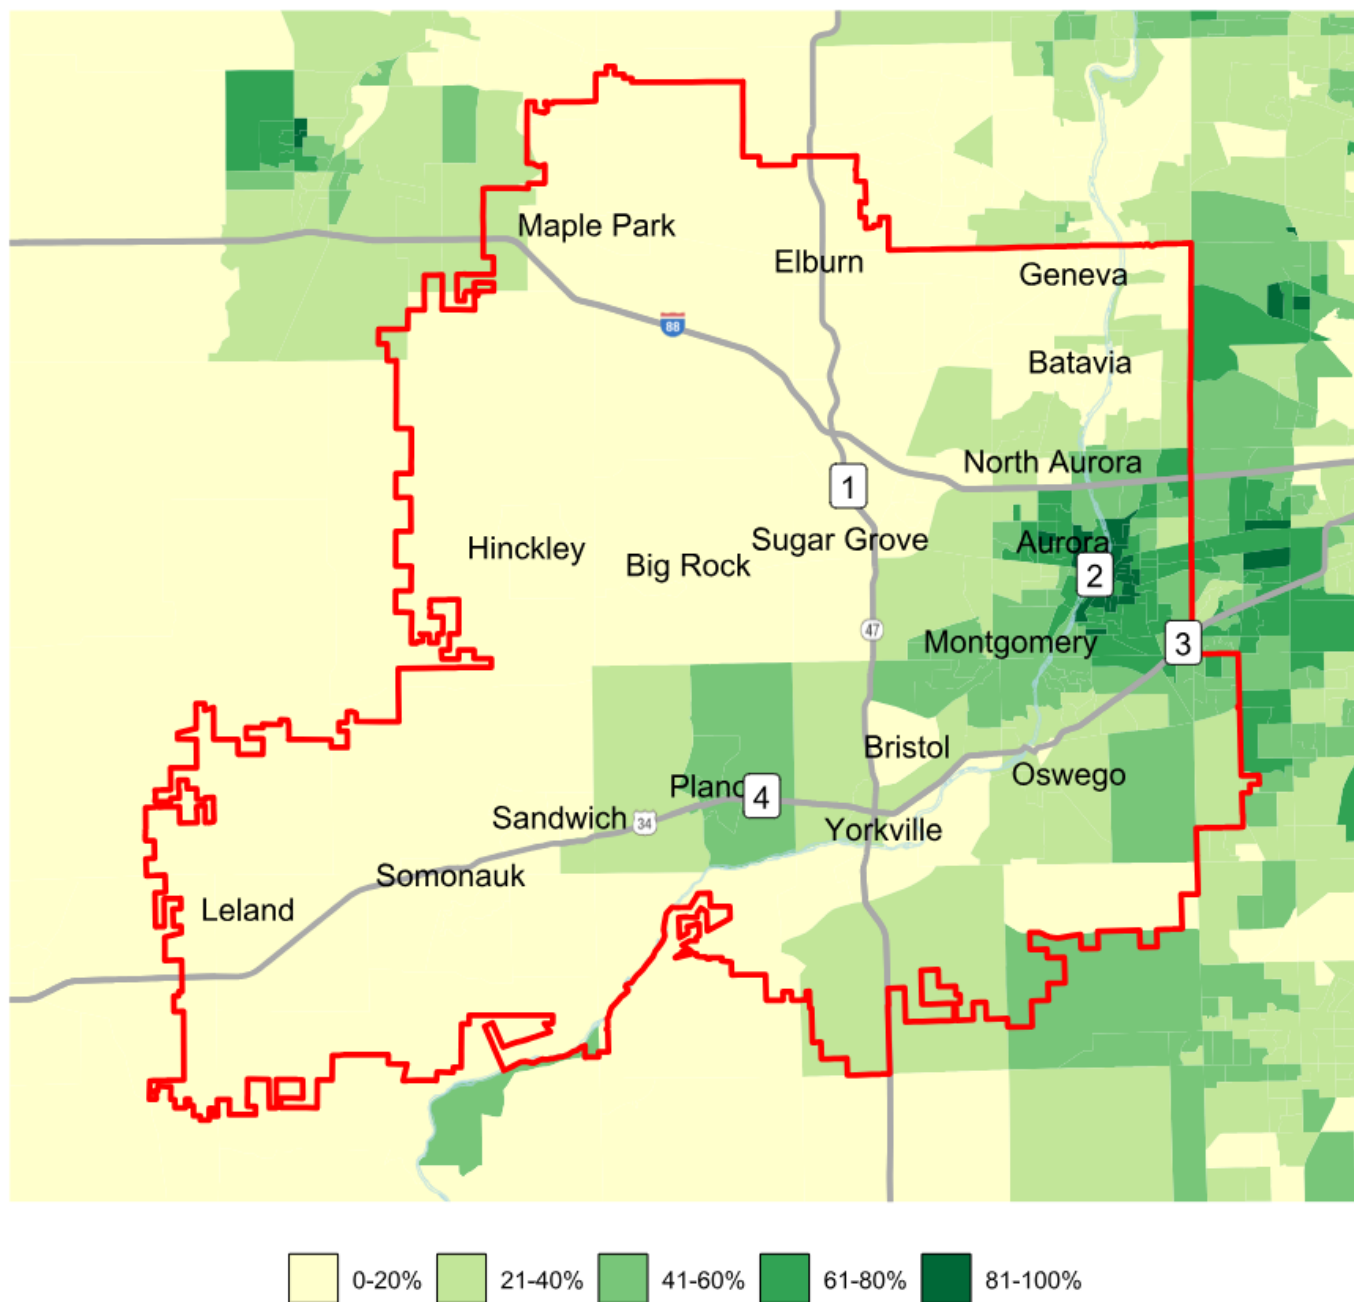

Community	# of Households (HH)*	5-yr HH Growth Rate 2020-2025
Yorkville (60560)	10,622	12.9%
Oswego (60543)	14,096	6.7%
Plano (60545)	4,983	6.0%
Montgomery (60538)	10,209	5.6%
Aurora (60503)	5,471	5.0%
Aurora (60505)	17,214	-2.0%

* Communities with less than 1,000 households in 2025 are not shown in the above table.

Please note that the communities with the highest growth rate are located along the Route 34 corridor.

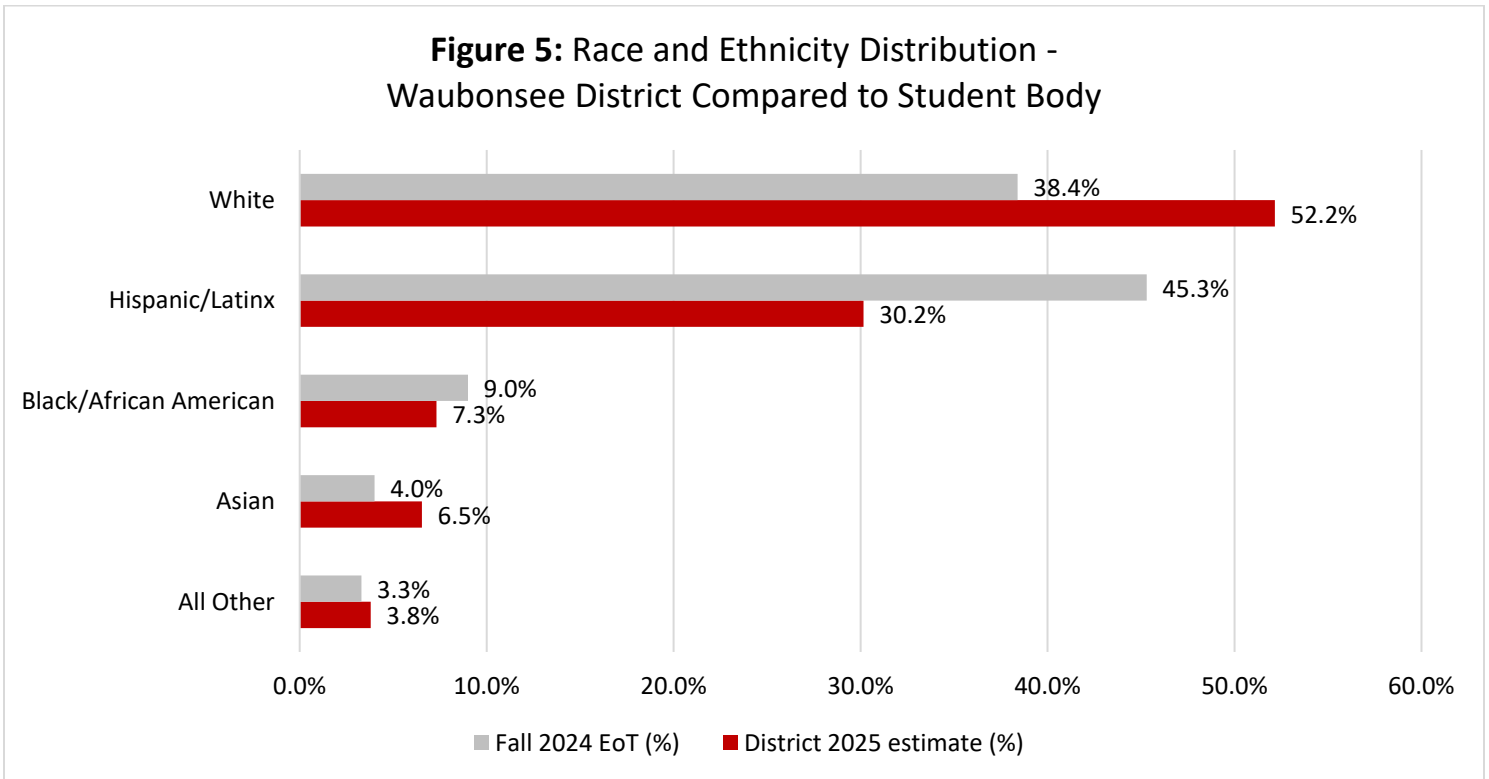

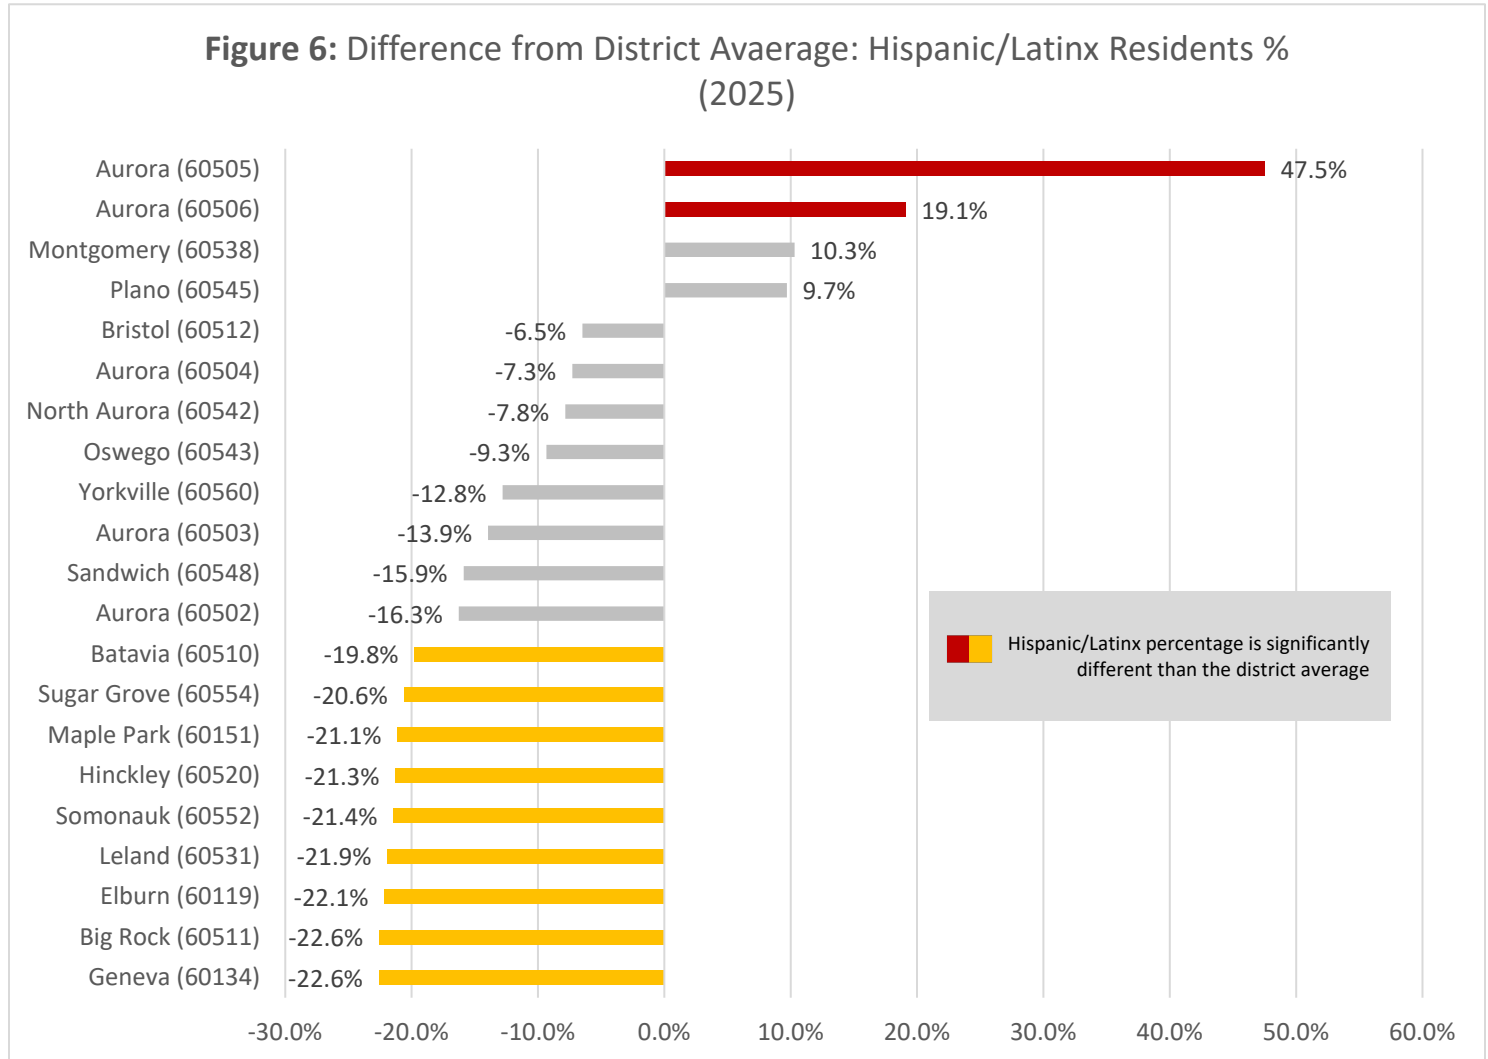

Figure 5: Illustrates the 2025 estimated race/ethnicity distribution of the district compared to the same distribution of Waubonsee credit students in Fall 2024 (End of Term). The ‘All Other’ category includes those identified as American Indian/Alaskan Native, Pacific Islander, Multiethnic, other race/ethnicity, and unknown/prefer not to respond. In-district representation of Hispanic/Latinx residents (30.2%) is lower than representation of this race/ethnicity subgroup in the Fall 2024 student population (45.3%).

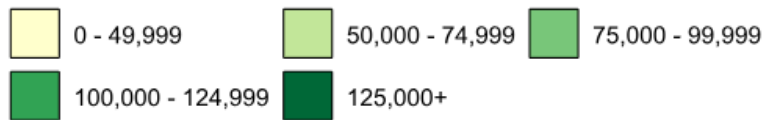

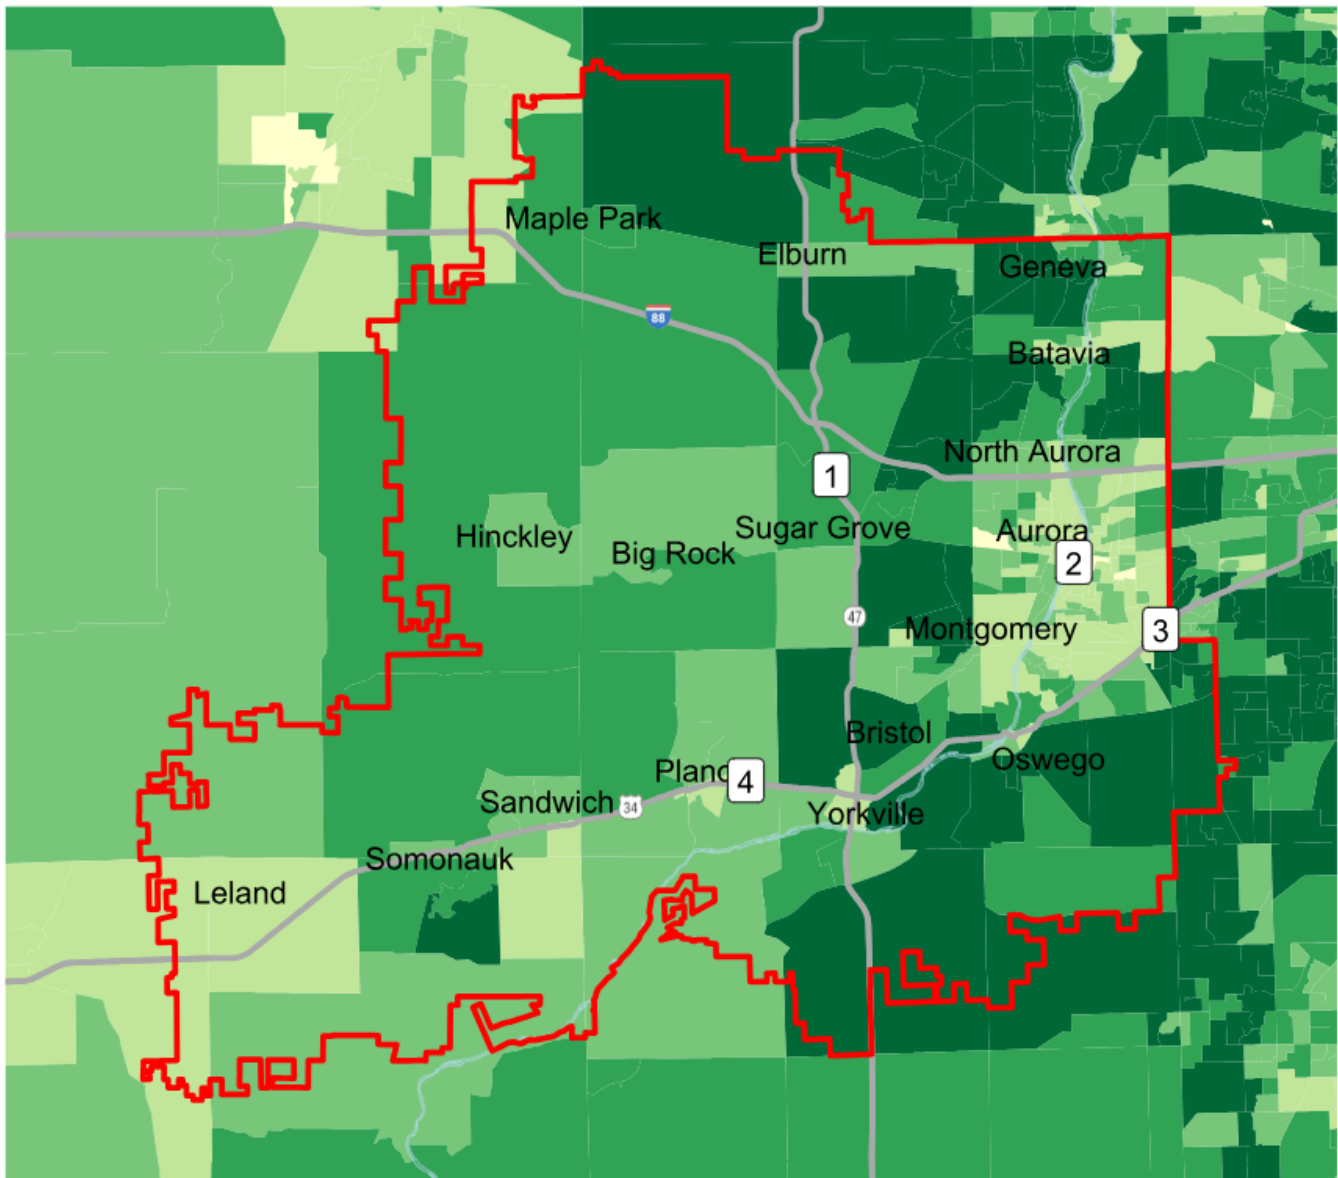

Race & Ethnicity

The figure below shows the relative distribution of Hispanic/Latinx residents across the district compared to the district average of 30.2% (shown as the vertical axis, or zero).

There is a higher-than-average concentration of Hispanic/Latinx residents in Aurora 60505 and Aurora 60506. The concentration of Hispanic/Latinx residents varies greatly across the district, with lower non-white representation seen predominantly in communities west of Route 47 (except Plano). If you excluded the 60505 and 60506 Aurora ZIP Codes from the District total, White residents would make up 61.7% of the overall total, and Hispanic/Latinx residents would be represented at 19.2% overall (an 11.0% decrease from the district average).

Employment & Household Income

- Labor force in this report is defined as those 16 years and over willing and able to work. It includes the employed (civilian or armed forces) plus the unemployed but excludes people who are institutionalized or who choose not to work for a registered business. The 2025 estimate for the district labor force is 243,588 members.
- A person is considered employed when he/she holds a full- or part-time position with a registered employer or is self-employed.
- The unemployment rate is the percentage of the total unemployed labor force actively seeking employment and willing to work. Unemployment may be due to:
 - unique catastrophic local or global crises
 - cyclical economic fluctuations
 - seasonal changes, such as the decrease in the number of construction jobs during winter
 - structural changes to businesses and occupations, where a business may be reorganizing its workforce or where workers need to re-tool their skill set to compete in the workforce
 - termination of employment
- Unemployment rate may understate actual unemployment due to:
 - Under-employed workers are not counted as unemployed
 - Disillusioned workers not seeking employment are no longer in the unemployment calculation

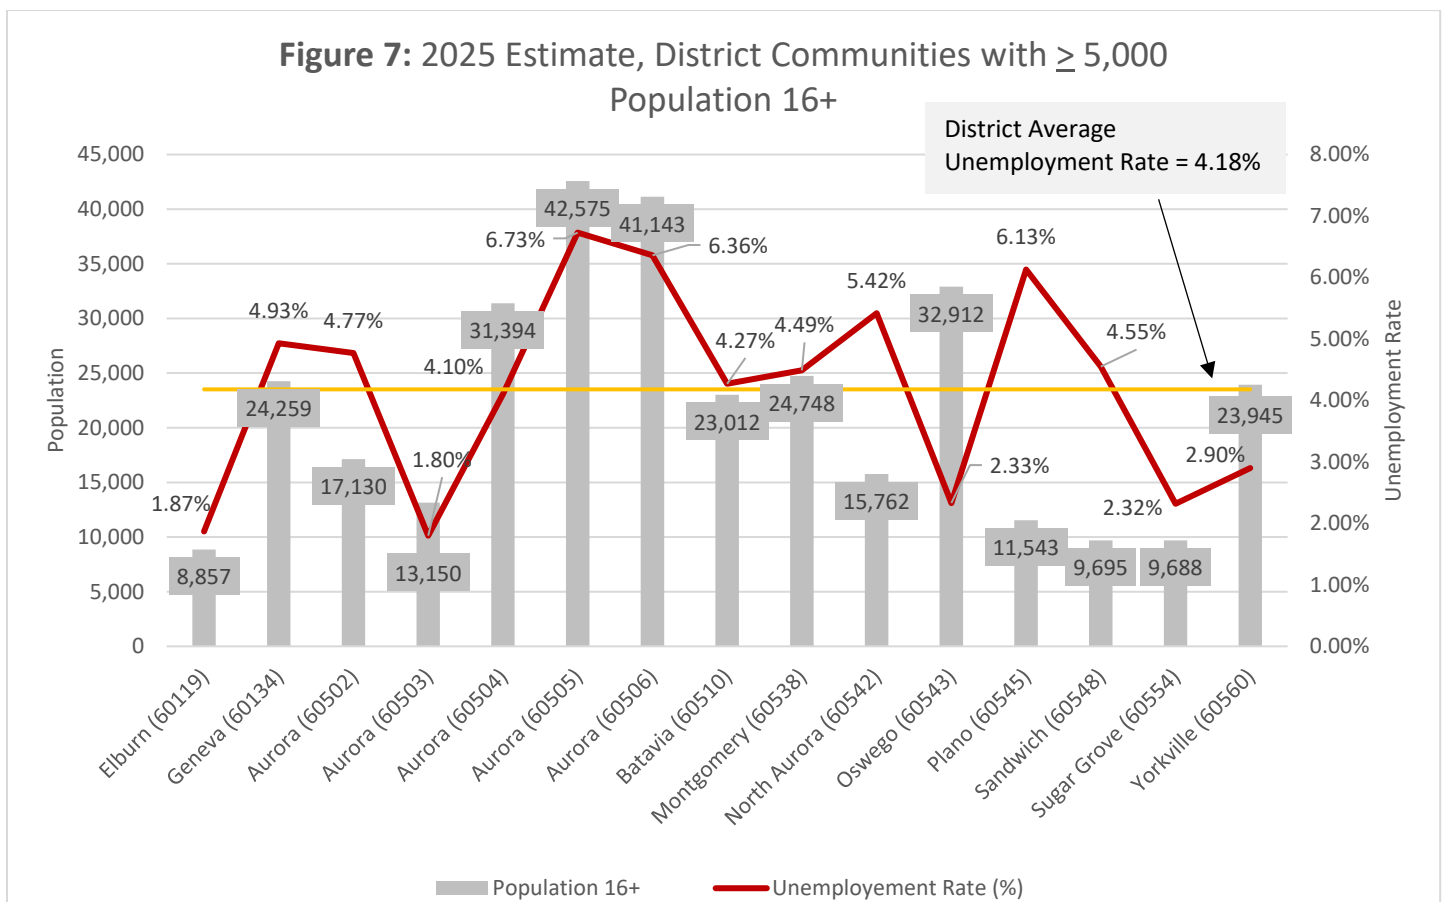

Figure 7: Shows 2025 residents 16+ and unemployment percentage for communities with labor forces of at least 5,000. The 2025 district average unemployment rate was 4.18%. Higher-than-average unemployment rates were seen in Aurora (60505 & 60506) and Plano (60545). Lower-than-average unemployment rates were seen in Elburn (60119), Oswego (60543), Sugar Grove (60554), Aurora (60503), and Yorkville (60560).

Employment Concentration: Relative concentration in a local geography compared to the national concentration. A value of 1.0 means that the local concentration = the national concentration in the occupations.

Employment & Household Income

Figure 10 shows occupational classification groups designated as White Collar, Blue Collar and Service/Farming, for the top 10 communities with at least 5,000 residents employed that have at least one classification group differing from the district average. White collar occupations tend to have higher educational expectations and wages than other classifications.

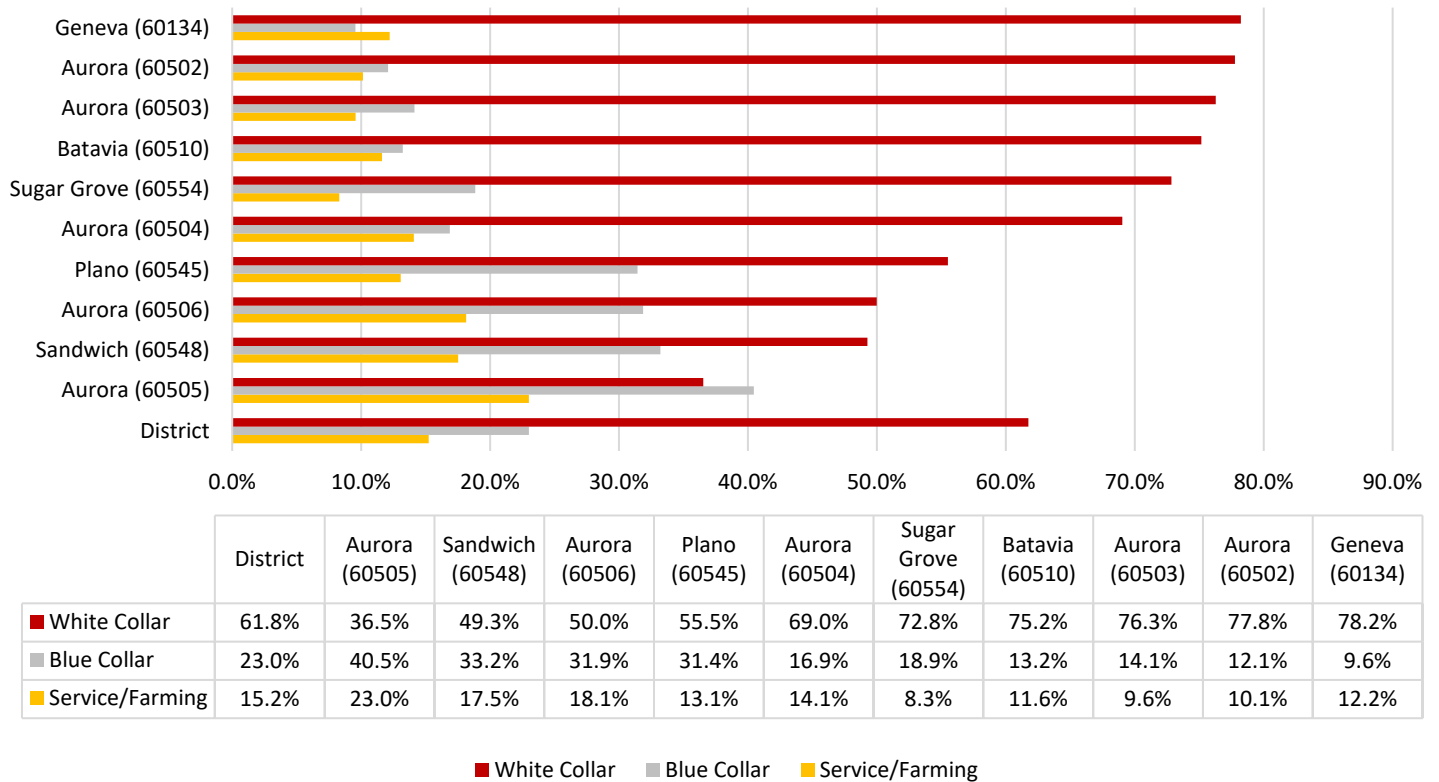

Figure 10: The district average for residents working in White Collar jobs is 61.8%. Aurora (60505) and Sandwich (60548) have significantly fewer residents working in a white-collar occupation than the district average; while Geneva and some Aurora ZIP (60502 and 60503) residents are more likely to work in a white-collar job than the district average. Aurora (60505) residents are 17.5% more likely than the district average (23.0%) to work in a blue-collar occupation.

According to recent data sources, the table below shows the employers with the highest employee headcount within the Waubonsee district. Several of the largest current employers in our district are in the healthcare industry. The healthcare industry also appears multiple times on the list of highest-ranked occupations (shown earlier in this section) from Lightcast/EMSI.

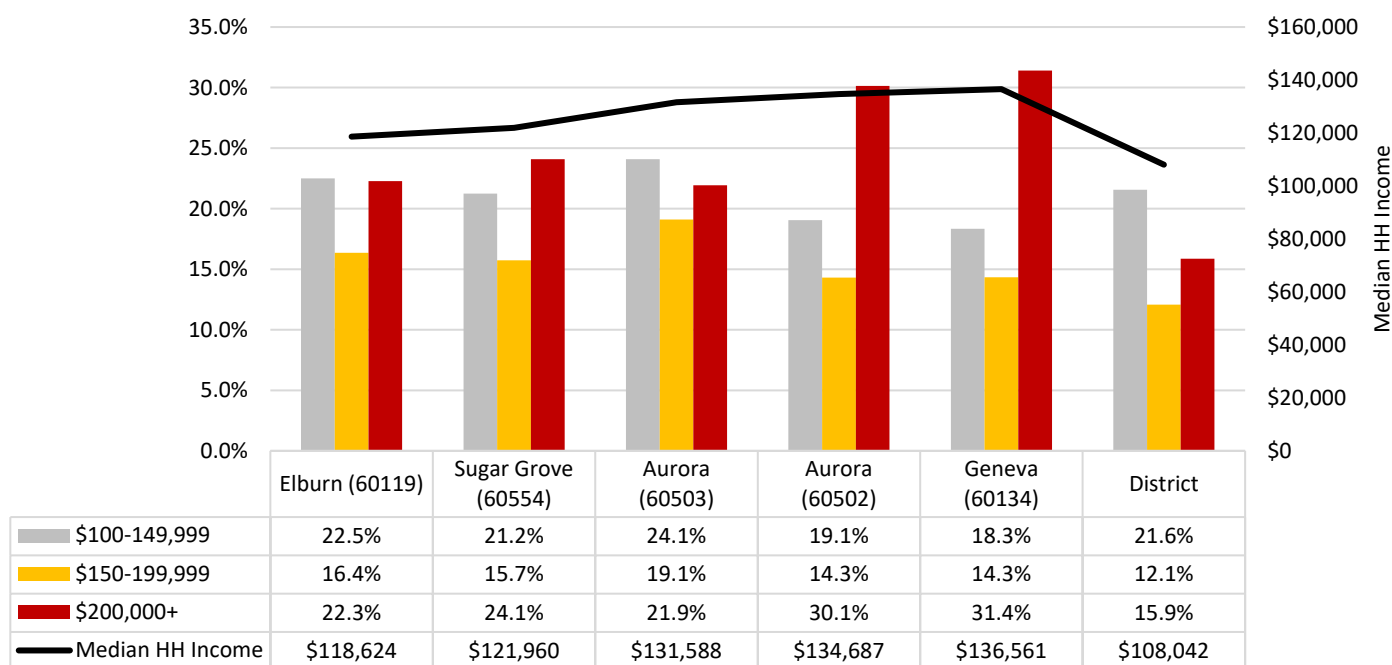

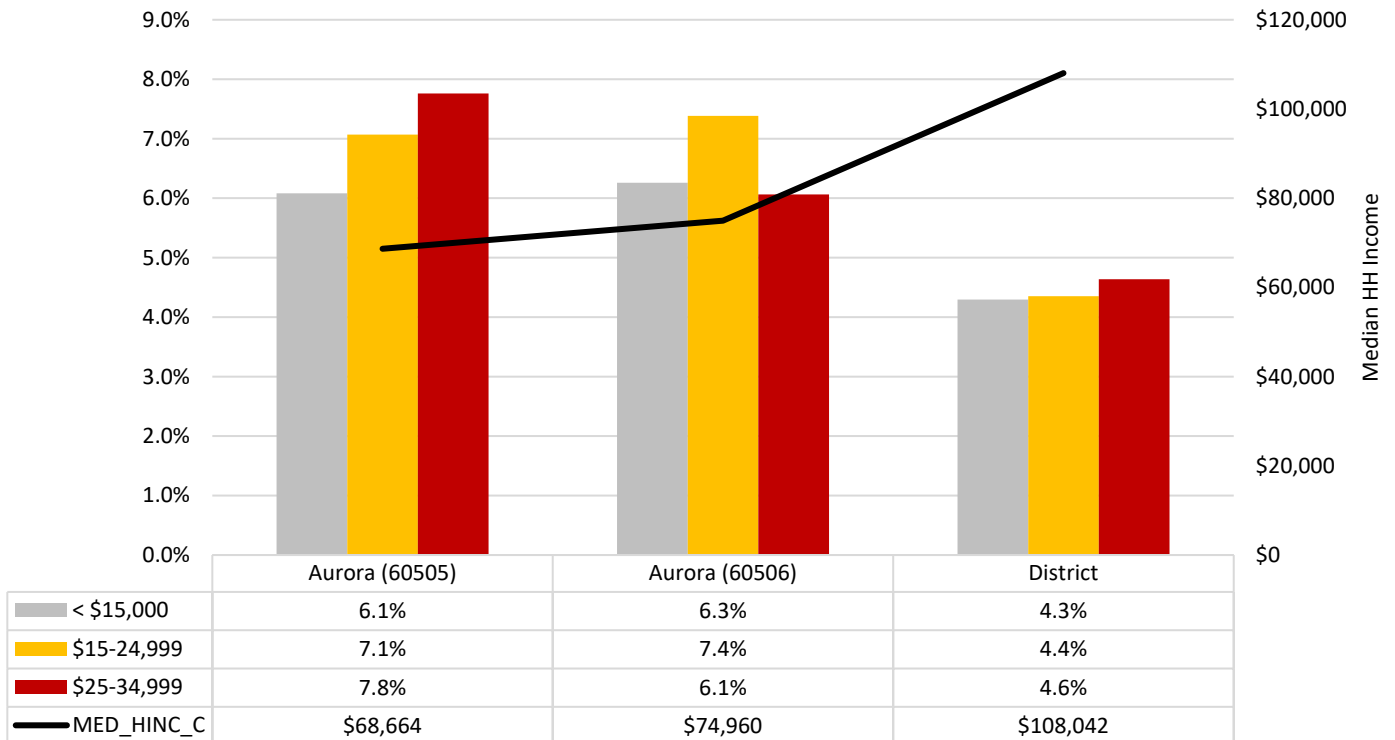

Figure 12: Five communities have significantly higher annual household median income levels than the district overall in the 2025 estimate. Aurora (60503) move into the top five this year, pushing Batavia (60510) off of the list. The 2025 household median income is higher by $8,177 this year. Geneva (60134) continues to have the highest household median income in district, followed by Aurora (60502). These communities are in the northeast portion of our district. Only 15.9% of district households make $200,000 or more annually – compared to an average of 26.0% in these more affluent communities.

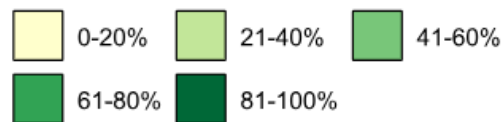

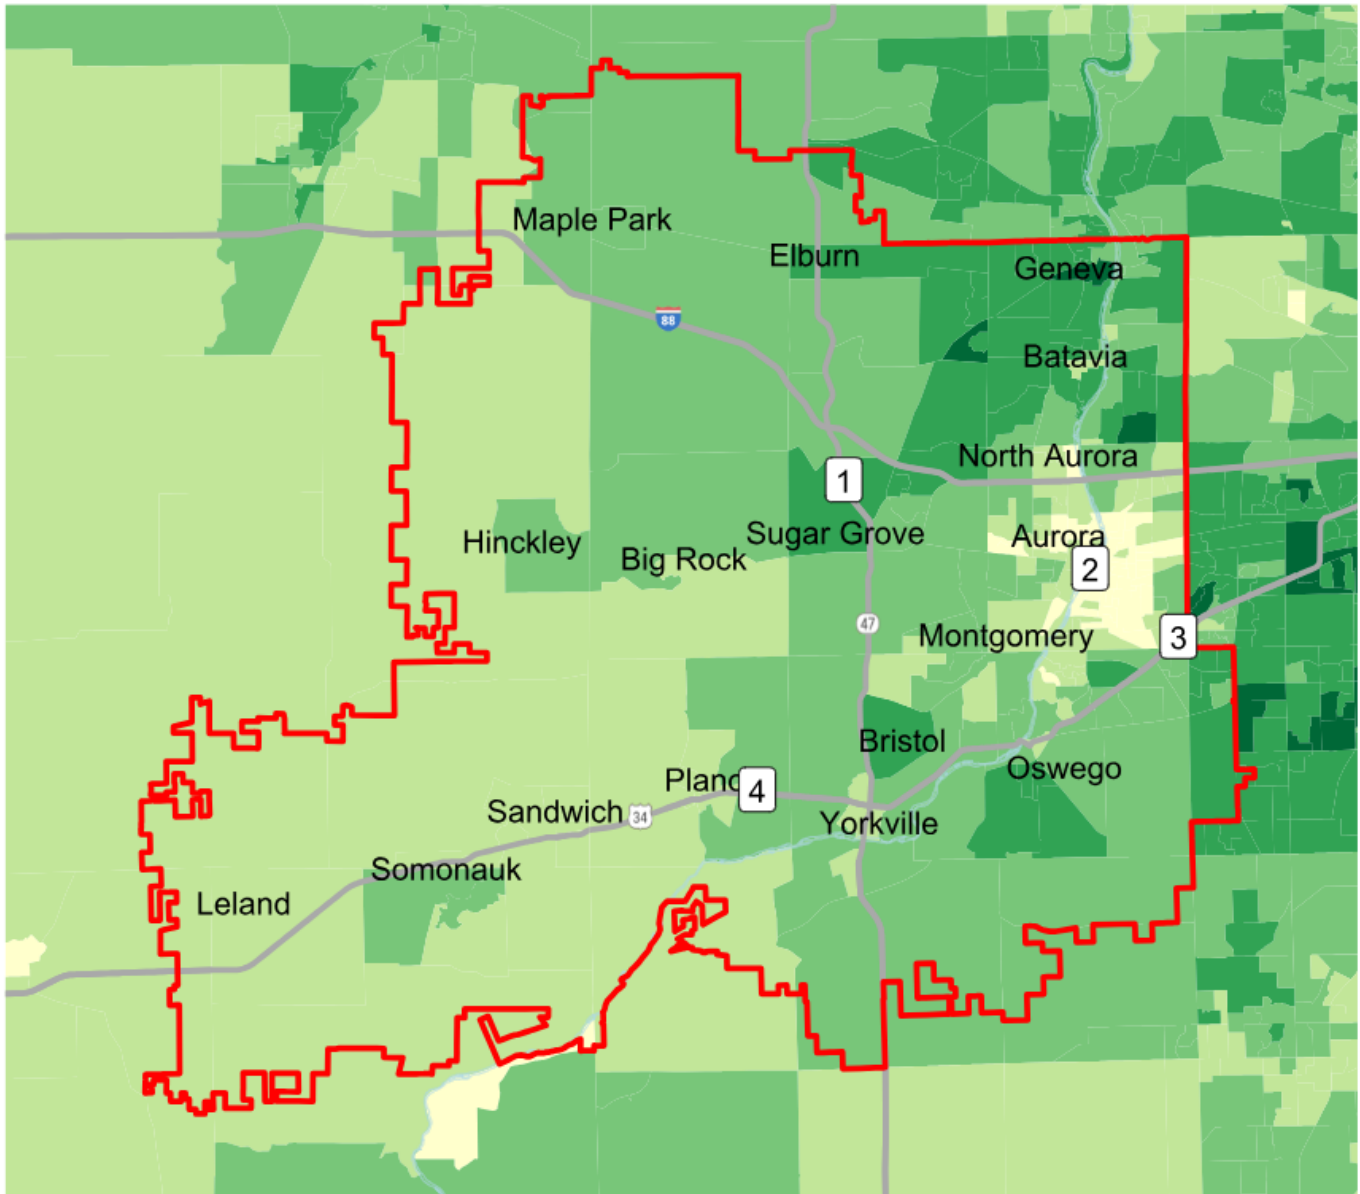

Figure 13: East Aurora (60505, 20.9%) and West Aurora (60506, 19.7%) have significantly higher percentages of households with an annual income below $35,000 compared to the district average of 13.3%. Statistics from the 2024 Illinois Report Card show that 70.0% of high school students in the East Aurora high school district qualify as low-income (eligible to receive free or reduced-price lunches, live in substitute care, or whose families receive public aid) compared to the state average of 49.8%.

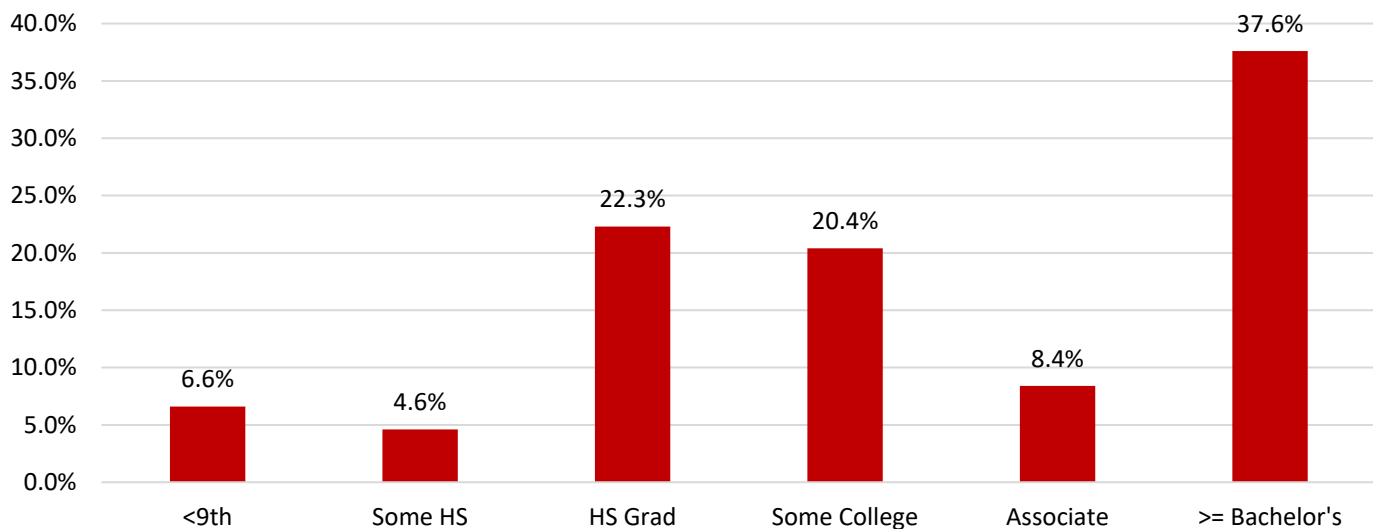

Figure 14: This is an overview of the educational level of all Waubensee district residents over 25 (estimated 25+ total population = 287,427). The observed percent of education less than HS is greatly influenced by our two largest communities, Aurora 60505 and 60506. If those two ZIPs were excluded, the 'less than HS' percentage for the district would be 6.3% instead of 11.3%.

(2025 estimate, Population 25+ over 2,000)

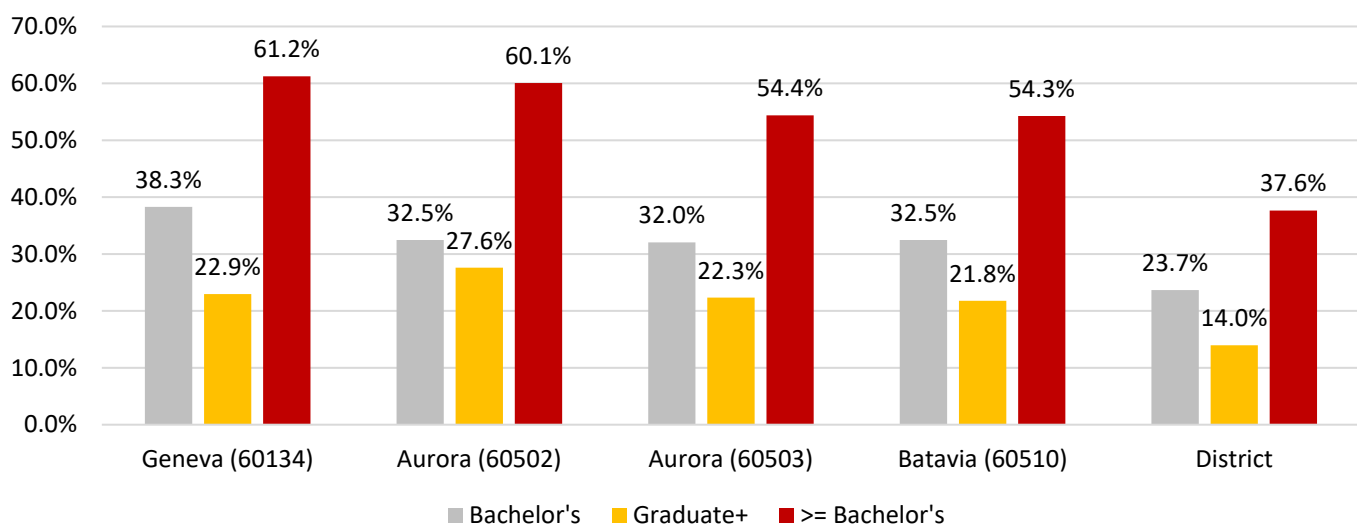

Figure 15: Residents in the above communities are significantly more likely to hold a Bachelor's or higher degree than the district average for large communities (37.6%). Geneva (60134) continues in the top spot as the 'most educated' district community this year as measured by the 'Total Bachelor's+' category. The lower threshold for inclusion in this chart was 54.3% of residents over 25 in the 'Bachelor's+' category, slightly higher than last year's threshold of 52.6%.

(2025 estimate, Population 25+ over 2,000)

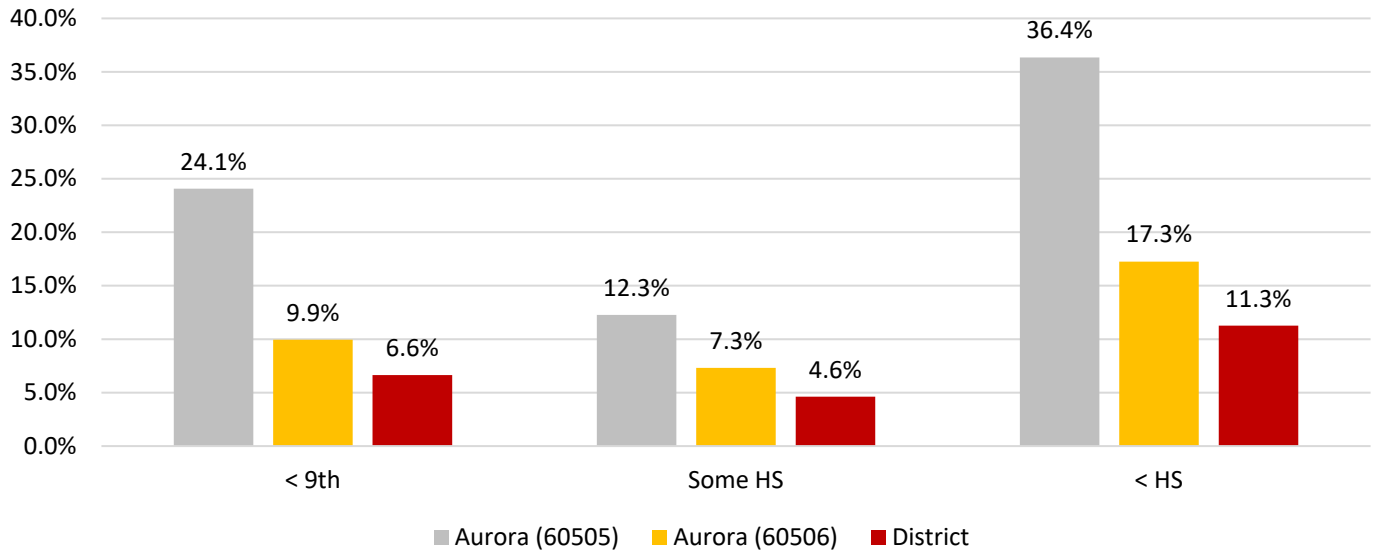

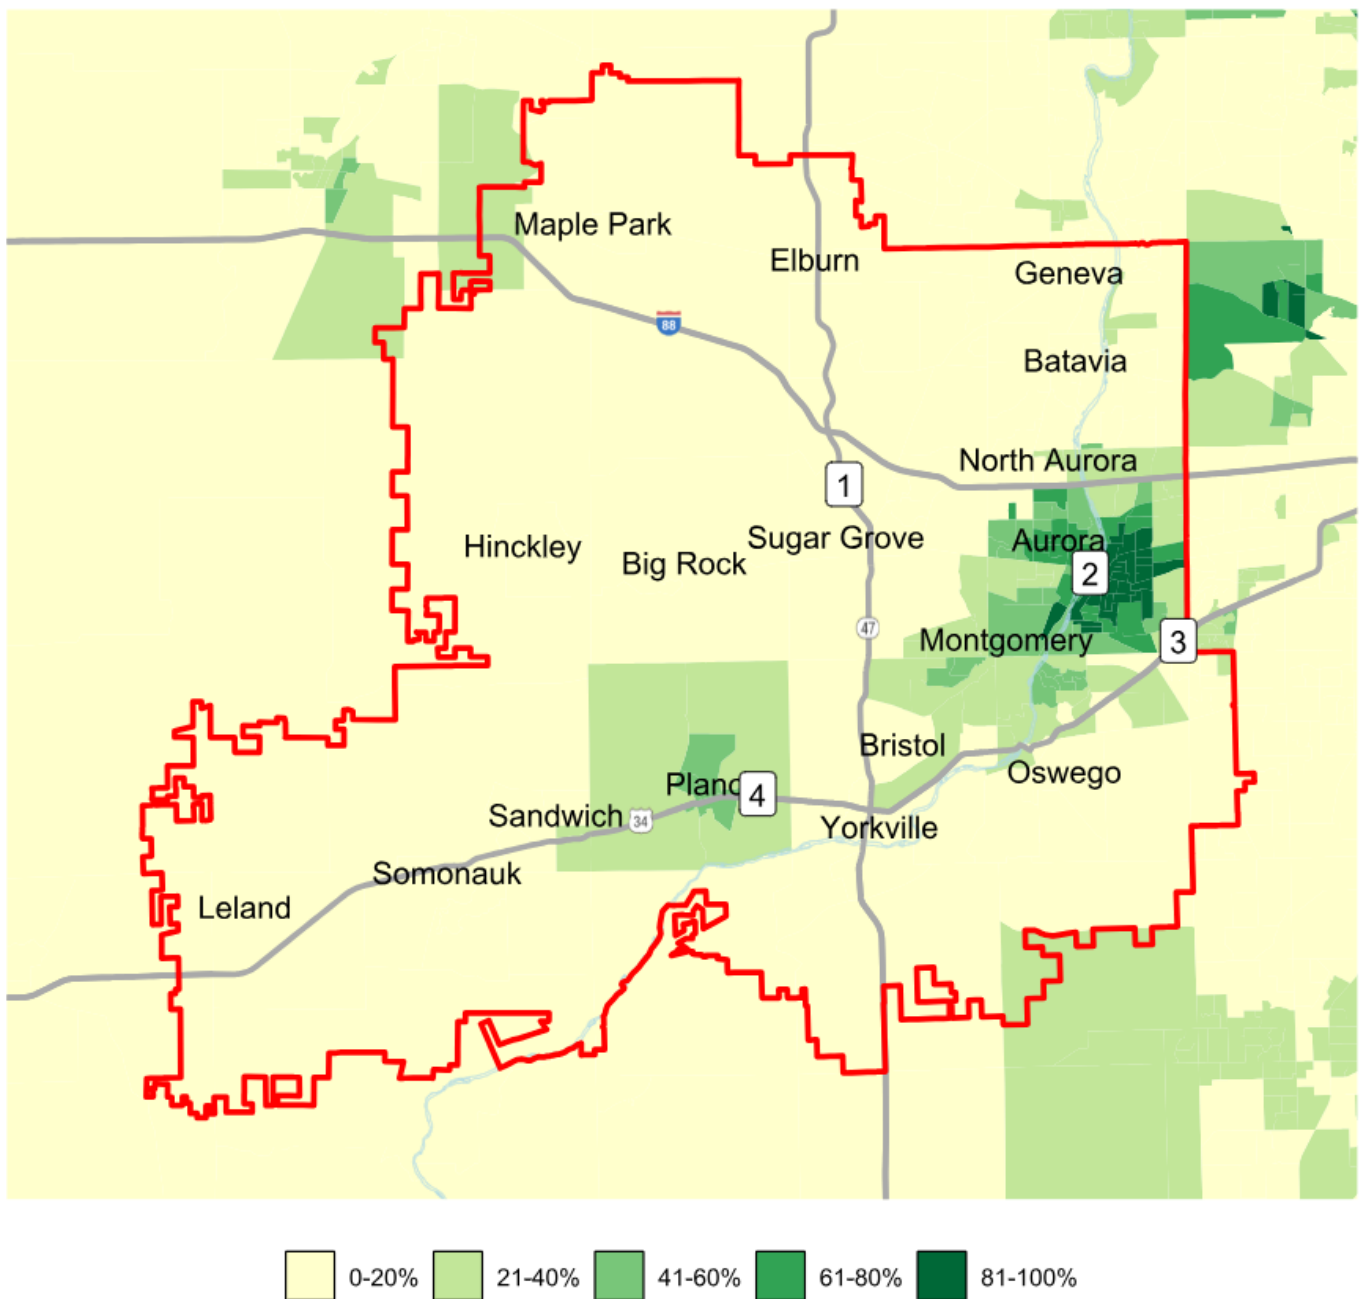

Figure 16: The above chart shows two bordering communities in Aurora (60505 & 60506) with a significantly higher than average percent of residents with low educational attainment compared to the district average. The district average percent of residents with an education level less than a High School diploma is 11.3%. 36.4% of Aurora 60505 and 17.3% of Aurora 60506 residents over 25 have less than a HS education compared to the district-average of 11.3%.

Montgomery, IL - ZIP Code 60538

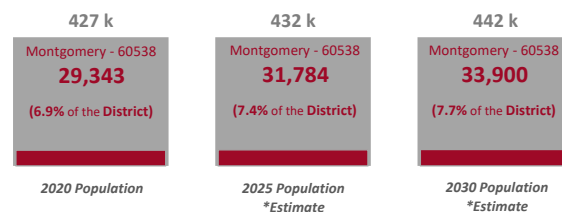

DEMOGRAPHIC DATA
ZIP Code-level Demographic Points of Interest
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Montgomery is a relatively diverse community with a 42% White population, which is lower than the district average of 52%. 40% of residents are Hispanic/Latinx, which is higher than the 30% for the district. 51% of Montgomery residents have an educational attainment between HS graduate and Some College, higher than the district average of 42%. Percentage of Montgomery residents with a Bachelor's degree or higher (27%) is lower than the district average of 38%. Lower levels of educational attainment, lower white-collar employment, and the same unemployment rate of Montgomery residents compared to the district's likely impacts the lower observed annual household median income ($90K), which is 16% lower.
